First Look

It all started with a Big Bang Theory. Now, CBS's prequel series Young Sheldon—which signs off on May 16—is passing the torch to a fresh

Chuck Lorre comedy. The untitled Young Sheldon spinoff plans to focus on Sheldon's older brother, Georgie Cooper (Montana Jordan), and his fiancée, Mandy (Emily Osment, right, with Jordan), as they raise a family—including baby Constance—in 1990s Texas. As viewers know, Georgie and Mandy's relationship started off rocky: After lying about their ages, the 17-year-old Georgie got 29-year-old Mandy pregnant, and the two separated for a brief time before agreeing to wed. We can only imagine how simple things will be for them now that they're parents...not! —Emily Aslanian

Elsbeth

Some of TV's best mysteries don't take themselves all that seriously

Thursday, April 4, 9/8c and (regular time period)
10/9c, CBS

COLUMBO WOULDN'T KNOW what to make of the technicolored out-fits sported by amateur snooper Elsbeth Tascioni (Emmy winner Carrie Preston).

Yet the iconic TV detective, played by the late Peter Falk and known for his shabby trench coat, would likely recognize a kindred spirit cut from the same metaphorical cloth.

Elsbeth, a delightful spinoff built around a memorably quirky character first seen on The Good Wife and The Good Fight, is in good company. Peacock's terrific Poker Face, starring Natasha Lyonne as Charlie, an irreverent drifter with a gift for spotting murderous liars, follows a similar Columbo-like "how-catch-'em" light mystery format. We see the crime and the criminal—typically a well-known actor—before our hero even shows their face.

Elsbeth's madcap sensibility, much like Columbo's shambling demeanor and Charlie's underdog persona, ensures that the murderer of the week will fatefully underestimate this seasoned yet unorthodox lawyer. Same goes for her colleagues at the NYPD, to whom she has been assigned from Chicago as an objective observer for the Department of Justice. "You sent me a nutcase," growls her wonderfully gruff foil Wendell Pierce, as Capt. C.W. Wagner, to a DOJ agent, who laughingly assures the boss, "She'll grow on you." Does she ever.

Peering over the cops' shoulders with incurably perky curiosity at every crime scene, Elsbeth is the most perceptive of pests, always poking her pixie nose where it isn't wanted while sniffing out the clues others have missed. "I find it so hard not to push buttons," she admits, and the fun of Elsbeth is watching her ruffle the cosmopolitan feathers of such arrogant archetypes as a shady theater director (True Blood's Stephen Moyer), a manipulative reality show producer (Modern Family's Jesse Tyler Ferguson) and a ruthless real estate agent (30 Rock's Jane Krakowski). The guest stars look like they're having as much fun sparring with Elsbeth as we do watching them.

At a time when so many nights are overrun with grim crime dramas, Elsbeth and its playful Thursday neighbor, the legal farce So Help Me Todd (about a struggling private eye working with his uptight lawyer mother), are refreshing respites. Elsbeth may not make you die laughing, but you'll certainly smile. ★★★★★☆

"SOME OF THE nicest people you'll ever meet are in prison," promises Marie-Louise (Happy Valley's wonderful Siobhan Finneran), empathetic chaplain of a British women's prison where first impressions give off a decidedly more dangerous vibe. The second season of creator Jimmy McGovern's behind-bars anthology ultimately conveys a hopeful message of redemption and reconciliation, but it's a harrowing journey for the three women who share a grim cell.

The first-rate cast includes the remarkable young actress Bella Ramsey (The Last of Us) as Kelsey, a desperate addict whose unexpected pregnancy provides a lifeline, with former Doctor Who star Jodie Whittaker riveting as a single mom whose seemingly minor transgression (cheating on her electricity bill) plunges her into a downward spiral of debt and family estrangement. The lesser-known but equally impressive Tamara Lawrance plays Abi, who becomes a pariah within their living quarters once the tragedy of her inexplicable crime is revealed to her fellow inmates. Wrenching and raw, this three-part drama is Time well spent, if you can bear to watch. ★★★★★☆

Moscow's plush Hotel Metropol, even if one's suite is now an attic grotto. Those are the reduced circumstances to which Count Alexander Rostov (a lovably witty Ewan McGregor) adjusts in a poignant adaptation of Amor Towles' acclaimed novel. But is his spirit diminished? Hardly.

"It is the business of times to change and gentlemen to change with them," Rostov concedes with characteristic dignity in the wake of the Russian Revolution that renders the deposed nobility the enemy of the state. Confined to the hotel as the years tick by, Rostov makes the most of his surroundings, creating a new family from the staff and his fellow guests, including a glamorous actress (the sublime Mary Elizabeth Winstead, McGregor's own wife). Despite the Moscow chill, it warms the heart to see charm used as a survival mechanism. ★★★★★☆

America's top TV critic Matt Roush answers your burning questions

McIver:
What's the
hiding?

Is it my imagination, or is Ghosts hiding Rose McIver's pregnancy by having her wear jackets, holding items, sitting behind her laptop, etc. so as not to write her pregnancy into the show? —Adrienne O., Winter Garden, Florida

MATT ROUSH: Not your imagination. The producers decided it's too soon to bring a baby into the mix, so in classic TV tradition they're hiding McIver's bump, most cleverly in the Halloween episode with a pumpkin outfit.

My favorite part of the Oscars is the "In Memoriam" segment, but this year's tribute was a joke! We couldn't care less about seeing dancers and/or singers, and even on my 65-inch TV, the camera setup was so far from the screen, you couldn't see who was being remembered! —John C., Denver

MATT ROUSH: While I mostly enjoyed this year's show—a naked John Cena sheepishly presenting the costume award a highlight—the overproduced "In Memoriam" was the low point. A thought: Next year, just go with an instrumental theme and let us dwell on the stars who passed.

I wanted to like AMC's Monsieur Spade, but there were too many subtitles. When I concentrate on the words, I miss out on action and facial expressions. Is it just me? —Dee MATT ROUSH: I hear both sides on this issue, and some do it better than others (Shogun's are superb), but for me, the issue is authenticity. I'd rather see subtitles than hear people speak English with stilted European or Asian accents.

THE YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS

"I didn't see this coming. It's a huge gift. It's a blast for me. This is what I live for!"
—Davidson

Two-time Daytime Emmy winner Eileen Davidson, no stranger to dramatic tales since her soap debut as Ashley on The Young and the Restless in 1982, is tackling one of her biggest acting challenges to date, playing Ashley's dissociative identity disorder.

The story began to take shape last year, after Ashley and Tucker's (Trevor St. John) marriage imploded in Paris. "Josh [Griffith, executive producer and head writer] and I had been talking, and I happened to mention Ashley's mental health issues [from the '80s]," Davidson recalls. "He remembered and got really inspired by that. So, it was an offhand conversation about the character that tied in beautifully with what he'd already been writing."

Davidson, who played five separate roles during her time on Days of Our Lives, had to take a different approach when creating Ashley's alters. "It had to be more subtle, especially in the beginning," she notes. "She didn't want to tip anybody off. As time went on, they each became more assertive."

Bringing to life these other characters—Ms. Abbott, Ash and another to be revealed soon—is more second nature to her now. "They're all vastly different from one another," she explains. "If I walk by the TV and I happen to be on, I absolutely know who it is just by the way she's looking."

The balancing act presents a high degree of difficulty, however. "It takes a lot of concentration," Davidson admits.

"It makes my head hurt because it's Ashley and then, sometimes mid-scene, I'm becoming the alter, so I'm starting off as one and ending up as another who's talking to someone else in her head."

Ashley's concerned family will stage an intervention to try to get to the root of her issues. "That is intense because it's at a very high decibel," Davidson previews. "It's Ms. Abbott and she's fighting for her life and the gloves are off."

Though it's been a demanding time, Davidson is thrilled with the intensity of the material. "I didn't see this coming," she marvels. "It's a huge gift. I told Josh, 'Please just keep going. This is what I live for!' It's a blast for me. I'm having a great time."

Y&R PARTY!

On April 13, Y&R's most beloved supercouple, Nikki and Victor, will celebrate 40 years since their first wedding, and the show will mark the occasion with a commemorative bash. "I thought this anniversary was the perfect opportunity to celebrate Victor and Nikki's icon status as a couple," explains executive producer and head writer Josh Griffith. "It also provided us with the chance to give the couple some nice romantic moments after dealing with Jordan's reign of terror."

Braeden and Scott

The party will not be all smooth sailing, teases the exec. "Let's just say that Jordan will not be able to resist wreaking havoc for the Newmans, forcing the Newmans and Abbotts to work together, which, as we know, never goes smoothly!" he hints.

It's also an opportunity to showcase the enduring dynamic between superstars Eric Braeden and Melody Thomas Scott. "While both Victor and Nikki have also had successful pairings with other partners, the magic that Eric and Melody share together onscreen is undeniable and a huge reason for Y&R's success," praises Griffith.

THE ULTIMATE THRILL RIDE

Breaking Bad's Giancarlo Esposito takes the driver's seat in Parish, AMC's newest crime drama, set in the Big Easy BY KATE HAHN

THE WRONG WAY IS THE ONLY WAY OUT for New Orleans native Gracian "Gray" Parish (Giancarlo Esposito), a reformed thief and getaway driver who's reluctantly pulled back into the dark underworld to save his family from financial ruin in this riveting six-episode series. And Gray's choice to take on a job as a driver for a fledgling kingpin has consequences that sends everyone into a deadly spinout.

It's not just all the illegal activities that have Gray on edge. "Gracian will keep coming back to that [question] of, 'Am I a good man?"

"Makayla and Rose are put through the wringer," says Himmel (left, with Malcomson)

Is this who I really am?' That's the plight of our show and what will keep you on the edge of your seat," says Esposito, who executive produces alongside Eduardo Javier Canto and Ryan Maldonado (Death and Other Details). The passion project, based on U.K. hit The Driver, took eight years to come to fruition.

Esposito, known for his nuanced and layered work in AMC's massively popular Breaking Bad and spinoff Better Call Saul, portrays all the shades of, well, Gray. He's mourning the death of his teen son Maddox (Caleb Whitford's tycoon Anton and Momoh's gangster the Horse: Who will come out on top?

"This story is about fathers and sons and relationships and family," says Esposito Baumann, seen in flashbacks), who was shot in a carjacking, and facing insurmountable debt at his once-thriving luxury car service. To save the life he's built with wife Rose (Paula Malcomson, Ray Donovan) and high schooler daughter Makayla (Arica Himmel, mixed-ish), Gray agrees to a big payday after much convincing from his old friend Colin (Scream star Skeet Ulrich). It goes sideways, and the fallout leads to Gray becoming the driver for a Zimbabwean gangster, the Horse (Zackary Momoh, The Nevers).

Colin's "a compelling character," Ulrich says of his ex-felon

How Gray's monetary distress breeds actions that he'd ordinarily consider morally wrong is close to Esposito's heart. "This is a big part of my life that I've lived. Desperation drives you to do desperate things," says the actor. Esposito once went bankrupt, first trying to stave it off by selling his own dream car, a 1964 Volvo 122S. But he lost his house, the roof over his family's head. "How many times did I think when I was bankrupt of robbing a bank and doing something reprehensible to have my family come through? All for a good reason, but is that trading in your moral compass and your integrity?" he asks, echoing Gray's dilemma.

Gray's saving grace is that he often acts as the good man in a bad situation, even if it means risking his life for people who might order killings themselves. He can't help but admire and relate to the Horse's love for his young son Luke (Dax Rey) and becomes protective of them. In a nail-biter of a scene, the three come under attack while Gray's at the wheel. He uses his trick driving skills and paternal instincts to save them even as bullets fly.

There are plenty of car chase scenes to keep action aficionados happy, but they always include a high-stakes emotional component. That adrenaline

Gray will keep coming back to that [question] of, ‘Am I a good man? Is this who I really am?’
—Esposito

► is something Esposito appreciates. “I’m a Popular Mechanics guy. I love speed. But when I drive fast, I have to ask myself, ‘What am I running away from?’” He adds, “There were things I had to learn about being safe on the set [while filming], in regards to driving.”

The terrifying gunplay seals Gray’s trustworthiness for the Horse, but his siblings in the Tongai crime family (see sidebar, right) are suspicious of the outsider. Gray is equally wary, and repulsed by their business of human trafficking.

In contrast to Gray’s maneuvering at work, he’s trying to be a good, loving dad at home. Esposito, who has four daughters of his own, says, “It’s really important to me to care for [them], to create a family that understands each other and has an open line of communication.” He brings relatable tenderness and frustration to Gray’s attempts to connect with Makayla, who’s irritated with how he is grieving Maddox’s death. In a very different car scene, Gray gives Makayla a driving lesson with a blend of affection and anxiousness that any parent will recognize.

But as Gray learns to balance his unsavory job with his softer home life, there’s a twist. That’s the midseason intro of industrialist Anton (Bradley Whitford), whose criminal enterprises are as entrenched in NOLA as Louisiana kudzu.

Anton has a past with Gray and a present beef with the Tongais, which is bad news for Gray’s family. To protect the people he loves—his wife, daughter, Colin and now even the Horse and Luke—Gray has to walk a moral tightrope. You’ll breathlessly watch, praying he doesn’t fall.

MEET THE PLAYERS

SKEET ULRICH Colin

“I’ve written on the front of my script, ‘Does Colin bring trouble, or does he bring fun, or is it both? It’s both!’” Ulrich says. Recently released from jail after 17 years, Colin is an old friend from Gray’s criminal days who approaches him for help on a big job. The sweet Southerner just wants to “get on his feet,” says Ulrich, reunite with his wife and enjoy a beer—or five—but misfortune follows him. “There’s a naivete to Colin,” the actor adds. “He doesn’t understand the depth of what he steps into.”

GIANCARLO ESPOSITO Gray Parish

Reformed getaway driver and criminal mastermind Gray left his dangerous life to marry Rose and start a business so they could raise their kids on the straight and narrow. The death of their son Maddox in a carjacking has left him angry and grieving, but he keeps all of that inside to focus on providing for his wife and teen daughter Makayla. Financial trouble threatens all Gray has built, and the promise of a big payday sucks him back into the world he left behind.

BONNIE MBULI Shamiso Tongai

Smart and focused on the bottom line, Shamiso is the family business’ secret weapon. She’s not afraid to use threats and cruelty to get the deals she wants for the Tongais’ endeavors, but stays cool under pressure. She also maintains the thin line of civility between her brothers, calming Zenzo’s temper by confronting, not appeasing, him. She will use people to get what she wants and demonstrates extreme heartlessness to one helpless immigrant.

PAULA MALCOMSON Rose Parish

The tough social worker knows nothing of her husband’s criminal past. She’s mourning the death of their son and trying to be strong for her daughter, all while attempting to sell their house. Rose falls into the role of peacemaker between Gray and Makayla, who are grieving Maddox’s loss in different ways. But her powerful dedication to protecting her family will spur Rose toward astounding acts of bravery when Gray’s old life finds its way into the heart of their home.

ARICA HIMMEL Makayla Parish

“Sometimes she acts out, but all she wants is to be heard,” Himmel says of Gray and Rose’s teenage daughter Makayla, who is frustrated that Gray’s not trying to move on from her brother’s death. “She expresses this to her dad through anger, but that stems from how hardened she’s become from the tragedy.” She has another shock coming. “There’s so much she doesn’t know about her family, and when truths are revealed, it takes a major toll.”

ZACKARY MOMOH The Horse

The U.S. head of a Zimbabwean crime family that traffics immigrants from their homeland is also a loving father. “The world would see him as a gangster,” Momoh says. “I saw a man who wanted to attain power to do something greater. Something to transcend time, cultures, that can bring his family, his whole community forward.” He answers to his cold, demanding father, who lives in South Africa. To his siblings’ dismay, he trusts Gray and brings him into their inner circle.

DAX REY Luke Tongai

Horse’s 12-year-old son is the sweet face of innocence in a world of backstabbers who will exploit—and kill—their fellow humans to get what they want. “Growing up in a tumultuous household is something Horse doesn’t want to pass on to his own son,” Momoh says. But that’s easier said than done. Especially as Luke is privy to the animosity between his father and his uncle Zenzo, who teaches Luke that even “the smallest cub eventually grows to be a lion.”

IVAN MBAKOP Zenzo Tongai

Zenzo feels like he should be running the illicit operation and isn’t shy about letting his younger brother know how he feels. He’s constantly on a hair trigger, ready to rely on cold-blooded violence and intimidation rather than diplomacy to get the job done. He and sister Shamiso make a formidable team. Zenzo has a soft spot for his nephew Luke but is teaching the youngster to see the world as a place full of threats and dangers from which he must defend himself with brutality.

BRADLEY WHITFORD Anton

Cocky, rich and always in control, Anton is an ostensibly upright businessman who’s deeply involved in the underground crime world. He struts in at the series’ midpoint and throws everyone off-kilter. Gray and the Tongais end up on a collision course with the dapper good old boy, whose power reaches into every aspect of local Louisiana life. But be warned: Anton has zero qualms about killing to get what he wants, and he never forgets a slight. —KH

NCIS Milestone!

The beloved military crime drama and its spinoffs reach an impressive 1,000 episodes. We bet you've seen 'em all! BY KATE HAHN

AIRDATES Sept. 23, 2003—

THE BRIEF "What makes NCIS so damn special?" That question is furiously put to Director Leon Vance (Rocky Carroll) by his estranged son, Jared (Spence D. Moore II), in the NCIS franchise's 1,000th episode. Launched in 2003, NCIS has four spinoffs and two highly anticipated shows coming—NCIS: Origins and a Michael Weatherly—Cote de Pablo project nicknamed NCIS: Europe.

The younger Vance makes his query when the two cross paths at his mom's gravesite. Vance's wife was killed by terrorists in 2013, and Jared can't comprehend why his dad is so dedicated to a job that put their family in danger.

Make that puts: Vance is soon in peril and the team under attack by an enemy from the past. "We've heard this baddie's name before," exec producer Steven D. Binder told us at a celebration on the set. "As in some of our better episodes, our people risk their lives for each other. We pay homage to the O.G. NCIS and the other series."

Guest star alert: Assisting via satellite feed are Los Angeles agent Kensi Blye (Daniela Ruah) and Hawai'i boss Jane Tennant (Vanessa Lachey). The cavalry also includes a longtime NCIS ally, former FBI agent Tobias Fornell (Joe Spano).

In a scene we observed, forensic scientist Kasie (Diona Reasonover) reviews evidence with Torres (Wilmer Valderrama). Jared, desperate to help, has slept there overnight. "Kasie connects with Jared and becomes a mentor in a way," Reasonover says.

Valderrama hints it all gets explosive, promising "a big, big set piece; all of us are involved." And one agent does something new: "We see McGee in a position you've never seen him in in 20 years," spills Sean Murray. Says Gary Cole, who plays team leader Alden Parker, "We witness some fragility of what this job entails, the obstacles that could pop up unexpectedly."

Jared does learn why NCIS is so damn special. It's the same reason fans keep coming back, despite cast changes. Says Katrina Law, aka Agent Knight: "[This hour] hits on what NCIS does best, which is the family connections that hold us together."

NCIS: New Orleans

AIRDATES Sept. 23, 2014—May 23, 2021

THE BRIEF The Big Easy's brassy, buoyant spirit infused the franchise's third title, shot memorably on location. In fact, lead Scott Bakula once told TV GUIDE MAGAZINE about a great only-in-NOLA moment: "being in the middle of the Mississippi River, captaining a tugboat!" His honest boss Dwayne Pride was based on a real New Orleans lawman, retired naval investigator D'Wayne Swear, who served as a consultant.

Over seven years, Pride and the team saved their beloved city from torpedoes, the plague, a sniper, terrorists, bombs, hackers and beaucoup shady characters. But the series' long run also allowed producers to delve into layered personal stories, like Pride being haunted by childhood trauma involving his convict dad, Cassius (Stacy Keach). Fans experienced heartbreak, notably the shocking 2019 death of Agent Christopher Lasalle (Lucas Black), but also joy. Which is how the show ended, with Pride marrying lawyer Rita Devereaux—played by the actor's real-life wife, Chelsea Field.

THE BRIEF "In Australia, everything can kill you," executive producer Morgan O'Neill cracked to TV GUIDE MAGAZINE when the Oz-set new kid on the block arrived last year. Down Under has proved plenty perilous for tough NCIS Special Agent Captain Michelle Mackey (Olivia Swann) and her savvy partner-in-crime-fighting, Australian Federal Police Sergeant JD Dempsey (Todd Lasance). After locking horns, the American and the Aussie warmed to each other. But all may be undone thanks to JD going rogue in the finale—crikey! Good news for fans left in suspense: Sydney was just renewed!

AIRDATES Sept. 20, 2021—

THE BRIEF NCIS said aloha to the franchise's third offshoot and first female special agent in charge, hardworking divorced mom Jane Tennant (Vanessa Lachey), in 2021. "I feel like I'm in a movie: Platoon meets Jurassic Park," Lachey told TV GUIDE MAGAZINE at the time. Before shooting on lush Oahu began, production held a traditional Hawaiian blessing. The island culture has defined the series, with unique cases involving paniolos (Hawaiian cowboys) and Pearl Harbor survivors.

Tennant's team, a blend of mainland transplants and locals like surfer Kai Holman (Alex Tarrant), has welcomed other NCIS franchise agents for joint ops. And now

NCIS: Los Angeles

AIRDATES Sept. 22, 2009—May 21, 2023

THE BRIEF For a thrilling 14 seasons, the first spinoff's Office of Special Projects hit the sunny streets of L.A. to chase down a rap sheet of baddies from Russian mobsters to psychotic serial killers—even an office mole. Under the management of no-nonsense Henrietta "Hetty" Lange (Linda Hunt), ex-Navy SEAL Sam Hanna (LL Cool J) and loner Grisha "G" Callen (Chris O'Donnell) were special agents with banter as quick as their draw. But both had endured pain: for Sam, a wife murdered by a terrorist; for G, a rocky childhood in foster care and a brutal secret program to train kids in spycraft.

Fans rooted for romance between team members Kensi Blye (Daniela Ruah) and Marty Deeks (Eric Christian Olsen), whose entertaining undercover missions included posing as cult members and suburban marrieds. The cast was equally tight. O'Donnell says, "The first day on set, the original NCIS cast came in. They were like a family. I remember looking at Dani and LL thinking, 'Are we ever going to get as close?' Sure enough, we did."

Ripley

THURSDAY, APRIL 4

ORIGINAL DRAMA Few characters could ever be as cold and fascinatingly calculating as the one introduced in Patricia Highsmith's revered 1955 psychological crime novel The Talented Mr. Ripley. This adaptation from Oscar winner Steven Zaillian stars Andrew Scott (above) as the title's working-class grifter, who stops at nothing to gain status and wealth. When a New York tycoon hires him, without vetting, to convince his feckless son Dickie Greenleaf (Johnny Flynn) to return home from his lengthy Italian sojourn, Tom Ripley insinuates himself into the luxurious worlds of Dickie and girl-friend Marge Sherwood (Dakota Fanning).

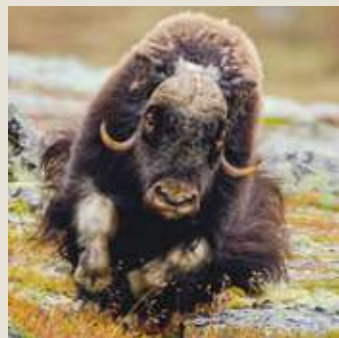

Unlike the sun-kissed colors of the hit 1999 movie, starring Matt Damon as Ripley, Netflix's eight-part series is shot in classic-noir black and white. (Zaillian has also optioned Highsmith's other four Ripley novels, with subsequent seasons planned for these books.) The spine of the story, however, remains Tom's desire to live the good life with Dickie, which leads to a web of lies, theft and murder.

Ripley may well be a sociopath, but interestingly, Scott sees him differently. "He's not necessarily always a reliable hero," he says, "but he's certainly the hero of the story." —Ileana Rudolph

Our Living World

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 17

ORIGINAL DOCUSERIES An intricately connected network unites all the Earth's living things and allows us to thrive: That's the fascinating lesson in this lush four-parter. Narrator Cate Blanchett suggests how the densest forests impact the coldest glaciers, and how the deepest oceans feed the hottest deserts. You'll also meet extraordinary creatures, such as the Arctic musk ox (below), whose "airbags" beneath their horns cushion their skulls from the violent blows during jousting. —Kate Hahn

Scoop

FRIDAY, APRIL 5

ORIGINAL MOVIE It was the damning interview heard round the world, and it undid the public persona of a British royal in November 2019. Now the BBC's shocking 50-minute chat with Prince Andrew revealing his friendship with sex trafficker Jeffrey Epstein gets a fascinating behind-the-curtain treatment, courtesy of director Philip Martin (The Crown).

Scoop looks at the six months it took determined Sam McAlister (Billie Piper)—who booked interviews for prestigious current affairs program Newsnight—to break through Buckingham Palace's vetoes and convince the reluctant prince (an unrecognizable Rufus Sewell) to sit with accomplished interviewer Emily Maitlis (Gillian Anderson). Martin describes the movie as "a love letter to journalism" that "puts you into the headspace of Andrew, Sam and Emily." The film follows the news team's efforts to set everything up, including "Sam's strength to make people feel why an interview could be beneficial to them," says Martin.

The conversation, in which Queen Elizabeth II's son praised the pedophile, who died in prison, left Andrew disgraced. "I heard later he walked away from the interview thinking he'd done really well," says Martin. "Obviously, everybody had a different response. And that felt very interesting territory for a drama." —IR

Franklin

FRIDAY, APRIL 12

Franklin (Douglas) guides Temple (Jupe) through a decadent Paris

ORIGINAL SERIES "He was very bright, a little bit of a rascal, a philanderer, liked to imbibe, a big flirt and had a wonderful ability in terms of his idea of negotiating, which was sort of a seduction," says Michael Douglas of Benjamin Franklin. In the Oscar winner's first historical role, Douglas deliciously plays the Founding Father through eight intrigue- and passion-packed hours. (Three episodes premiere April 12, followed by one each week until May 17.) Cracks the actor, "I wanted to see how I'd look in tights." (Spoiler alert: pretty darn good.)

The ravishing series is a fascinating tell-all about a lesser-known period in Franklin's life. In 1776, the charismatic 70-year-old, famous for his electrical experiments, took on a secret mission to France to convince the monarchy to support and fund the American Revolution.

His eight-year Gallic adventure gets underway with an undercover arrival in Paris facilitated by his closest confidant, the serious Dr. Edward Bancroft (Daniel Mays). Franklin is also accompanied by his teen grandson, Temple (A Quiet Place's Noah Jupe). Beginning with the series' opening moments, Franklin's ingenious maneuvering is enthralling as he makes good use of the role of captivating outsider. In his attention-getting signature fur cap (so savage!), he charms, banters and gets down to business—all while taking the young family member under his wing.

"Benjamin is seducing the French into his plan, and Temple is completely seduced by the French," Jupe says.

While his tactics were unconventional, historians consider Franklin's accomplishment to be one of the greatest acts of diplomacy. Without it, the U.S. would not have formed the Franco-American alliance of 1778, which led to the peace treaty with England in 1783—and independence. "For me," says Douglas, "it was a reminder of how precious democracy is—and how easy it is to lose." —KH

AVAILABLE NOW

ORIGINAL DRAMA It's family first in this faith-driven drama based on the bestselling books from Karen Kingsbury. The first 10 episodes follow the determined Kari (Ali Cobrin), who tries to save her marriage after learning that her professor husband Tim (Black Lightning's Brandon Hirsch) has been cheating on her with a student. In Kari's corner are her loving parents—Elizabeth and John (Roma Downey and Ted McGinley)—and four siblings.

Of course, Kari's compassionate mom is her first call after it all falls apart. Downey was down for the drama, but the Baxters' relatability really drew in the Touched by an Angel vet. "Here is a series about a quintessential American church-going family dealing with real challenges and figuring out a way to come out stronger on the other side," she says. "I know audiences will see themselves in this story." —Emily Aslanian

BY DAMIAN HOLBROOK

MORE! MORE! MORE! The treasure chest of memorabilia is seemingly bottomless, which is exactly what makes Collector's Call such a huge thrill for host Lisa Whelchel. "The first season, I thought, 'Man, they've got such great things.' And then the second season, it's like, 'Oh, wow, OK, they found more,'" says the Facts of Life actress. "I couldn't help but think that at some point, we're going to run out of great collections."

Nope. Now entering its fifth season, the show that celebrates the epic acquisitions (and passions) of collectors around the country has upped its game once again. "We had a Star Wars collector in Season 2, and it was incredible," Whelchel recalls with a laugh. "But this [latest] Star Wars collection is—not to be too cheesy—out of this world."

Once again, Whelchel hits the road to visit everyday folks who have spent years tracking down and displaying museum-caliber collections of everything from windup toys and "Weird Al" Yankovic swag to pizza-themed tchotchkes and Bozo the Clown items. The opener sends her to New Jersey, where she meets Stewart Berkowitz, owner of one of the largest private collections of TV memorabilia. And it is dazzling. We're talking screen-used props, actual vehicles (Batman's '60s Bat-Copter!), Barney Fife's uniform from The Andy Griffith Show (among many costumes) and—hold on to your Carnac!—a full-scale set from The Tonight Show Starring Johnny Carson.

"He's got two warehouses, and he's creating a museum that's going to be two stories," Whelchel marvels. "And the thing is, he needs a two-story building. We were barely able to scratch the surface of what he has."

After touring each episode's sprawling stockpile with the collector, an expert in the field assesses the cash value of the whole kit and caboodle. To make things even more interesting, the collector is then offered a long-sought item in exchange for a prized possession that's already in the stash. We won't spoil what tempts Berkowitz in the premiere, but suffice to say it'll take some superheroic measures to make the trade.

Later in the season, Whelchel rocks out with an Elgin, Illinois, jukebox aficionado and checks out the horror and sci-fi toys amassed by a Los Angeles podcaster and his wife. But wherever she goes, Whelchel has noticed it's more than a simple souvenir that is close to the collectors' hearts. "It's something they're wanting to hold on to that felt so good in childhood," she says, "whether a relationship or a feeling or an experience." And that, like some of these collections, is priceless.

Walker

SEASON PREMIERE Wednesday, April 3, 8/7c, The CW

THE WALKER, TEXAS Ranger reboot is back in the saddle, and the white hats are bringing the action and the emotion. In Season 4, Jared Padalecki's Cordell Walker "is probably put in the biggest danger he's ever been in, and that, of course, causes a ripple effect with his loved ones," says showrunner Anna Fricke.

As teased at the end of last year, our hero (right) is about to deal with the reemergence of "The Jackal," a serial killer he and Capt. Larry James (Coby Bell) failed to catch years ago. The case nearly consumed James—we see the destruction it caused in flashback tonight—so the captain's wife, Kelly (Kearran Giovanni), begs Cordy and newly minted Ranger Trey (Jeff Pierre) to keep their investigation a secret.

Cordy isn't the only Walker hiding things. Brother Liam (Keegan Allen) is still helping his niece, Stella (Violet Brinson), cover up what she really knows about the home invader who attacked her and pal Sadie (Saylor Bell) last May—a crime that led to a shooting and a missing body. The lingering PTSD and the fear that her assailant is still loose eventually send the college kid down a very dark path, Fricke previews, revealing, "I can't lie, Stella gets herself in a mess of trouble, and she's gonna pull Sadie and [brother] August [Kale Culley] in with her."

On a lighter note, we still get some swoon-worthy situations, especially with Cordy's partner Cassie (Ashley Reyes), who's back from an assignment in Florida and sparking with Trey. "She's been empowered by her time away and is clearer about what she wants," says Fricke. And Walker? Can he finally find a work-love life balance now that he's all in with his old high school friend Geri (Odette Annable)? "That is indeed the big question of the season," Fricke says. And with Stella at the dorms and Augie looking to join the military, "He's also facing the prospect of an empty nest. It's going to be challenging for him to see if he can allow himself to sit with that." —Damian Holbrook

30 Years of TCM

8/7c, TCM

Pearls are the gift of choice for this anniversary, and TV's premier home of classic movies offers plenty in its month-long celebration. Thursday titles in April will be chosen and introduced by network staffers, from execs to researchers, who helped get the channel up and running in 1994. And on Sunday, April 14, a day-long marathon celebrates the legendary Robert Osborne, primetime host for TCM's first 22 years, by showing films featuring his masterful introductions. The fun begins tonight as Brad Siegel, TCM president for its first decade, sits down with primetime host Ben Mankiewicz to watch Annie Hall, Woody Allen's 1977 romantic opus, starring (above) Allen, Tony Roberts and Diane Keaton. Afterward, more former TCM bigwigs reminisce and view 1982's Diner (10/9c) and 1936's Dodsworth (midnight/11c). —Robert Edelstein

Beetlejuice

Lonesome Dove

2/1c and 9/8c, HDNet Movies

Tommy Lee Jones delivered quite an ultimatum on the set of this miniseries, according to our 1989 TV GUIDE MAGAZINE feature. The avid rider and polo player—who at the time raised horses and cattle on his San Saba, Texas, ranch—insisted on saddling up for his own riding and bucking. “If I don’t,” he told producer Dyson Lovell, “you get half a performance.”

Jones succeeded—and so did Lonesome Dove, the wildly popular adaptation of Larry McMurtry’s

Pulitzer Prize–winning novel about an epic cattle drive. Emmy winner Robert Duvall heads the cast as Gus McCrae, who teams up with fellow former Texas Rangers Woodrow F. Call (Jones) and Jake Spoon (Robert Urich) and a business partner, Josh Deets (Danny Glover), on the 2,500-mile journey. Diane Lane (above, with Duvall) and Anjelica Huston were also part of the mammoth project, which tallied 1,000 extras, 100 horses and 1,500 cattle. —Andrea Towers

35TH ANNIVERSARY!

Homegrown

SEASON PREMIERE

1/noon c, Magnolia Network

Daytime Pick

Host Jamila Norman begins her fourth season of helping folks literally reap what they sow, showing a young family how to can the crops from their backyard garden.

A SURPRISING SOUNDTRACK

Murdoch Mysteries

7/6c, Ovation

Fans of the turn-of-the-century Canadian detective drama get their wish: a musical episode! Felled by a bullet, Murdoch (Yannick Bisson) hears the investigation take place around him—in song. And yes, the cast provide their own vocals.

Two for One: Martin Scorsese

8/7c, TCM

Movie Picks

Lauded film-makers pick and introduce double features for the next 12 Saturdays. Martin Scorsese kicks things off with two titles from 1948. First up is Western noir Blood on the Moon, which he compares here to the breezier musical rom-com One Touch of Venus (9:45/8:45c).

Saturday Night Live

11:30/10:30c, NBC

Late-Night Pick

Former cast member Kristen Wiig is back to host. Musical guest: Raye.

TODAY'S SPORTS PICKS

MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL

4/3c, FS1 Los Angeles Dodgers at Chicago Cubs

Cody Bellinger (above) and the Cubs play host in the second of a three-game set.

COLLEGE BASKETBALL 6/5c and 8:30/7:30c, TBS and TNT NCAA Men's Basketball Tournament: Final Four March Madness winds down at Arizona's State Farm Stadium.

CLOCKWISE FROM TOP: CBS/EVERETT COLLECTION; NUCCIO DINUZZO/GETTY IMAGES; WARNER BROTHERS/EVERETT COLLECTION

2024 CMT Music Awards

8/7c, CBS

Kelsea Ballerini is nominated for three awards while hosting for the fourth year in a row. Top nominees Cody Johnson, Jelly Roll, Lainey Wilson and Megan Moroney also share three noms apiece.

Space Shuttle Columbia: The Final Flight

SERIES PREMIERE

9/8c and 10/9c, CNN

An American tragedy: Using previously unaired footage and exclusive interviews, this four-part doc looks back at the 2003 disaster that killed all seven astronauts aboard.

PLUS: ELIZABETH BOBS HER HAIR!

When Calls the Heart

SEASON PREMIERE

9/8c, Hallmark Channel

It's the 1920s, and everyone in Hope Valley is facing new challenges for Season 11. After calling off her engagement to Lucas (Chris McNally), Elizabeth (Erin Krakow) needs a fresh start. Not surprisingly, the schoolteacher's feelings for Nathan (Kevin McGarry) are as complicated as ever!

Beacon 23

SEASON PREMIERE

9/8c, MGM+

After the seeming death of Aster (Lena Headey) as she tried to enter the mysterious Artifact while seeking a way to save humanity, the sci-fi thriller enters Season 2. In it, the remaining human and AI inhabitants of Beacon 23—a lighthouse for intergalactic travelers located in the Milky Way—are trapped with the dangerous entity Aleph.

Mr Bates vs the Post Office

SERIES PREMIERE 9/8c, PBS (check local listings at pbs.org)

MATT'S PICK

When this engaging and enraging David-vs.-Goliath docudrama aired earlier this year in the U.K., viewer response was so fierce that Parliament took action to speed the wheels of justice. You'll soon understand why in Masterpiece's four-part presentation, which depicts the plight of working-class subpostmasters accused of theft, branded as criminals by a monolithic post office that refuses to concede that a software glitch is the actual culprit. Frank Capra (Mr. Smith Goes to Washington) would have loved this everyman-against-the-system fable.

Grounding the story in appealing and sympathetic human terms, the marvelous Toby Jones (below) stars as Alan Bates, who spends some 20 years doggedly compiling evidence and seeking out other unjustly accused victims who also were falsely told they were the only ones experiencing these shortfalls. (Costars include familiar British TV character actors such as the brilliant Monica Dolan and Downton Abbey's own Mrs. Patmore, Lesley Nicol.) We are made to feel their humiliation, shame and anger, a pain that brings an investigating forensic accountant (Ian Hart) to tears: “The more of you people I meet, the less I know how you're all still standing.” I wept with him. —Matt Roush

Curb Your Enthusiasm

SERIES FINALE

10/9c, HBO

After 12 hilarious seasons, comedian Larry David smirks his final smirk as a misanthropic, exaggerated version of himself. We expect an episode that is much more than “pret-tay, pret-tay good.”

TODAY'S SPORTS PICK

COLLEGE BASKETBALL

3/2c, ABC and ESPN

NCAA Women's Basketball Tournament: Championship

They battled to the end of the bracket. Now the top two women's squads square off in Cleveland for the title.

Bosom Buddies

Saturday, April 13, 11am/10c, Catchy Comedy

WHEN PRODUCERS ROBERT L. Boyett and Thomas L. Miller mentioned 1950s cross-dressing movie Some Like It Hot while pitching a “sophisticated buddy comedy” to ABC, the network said they would air it only if that drag element was in it. The result: The November 27, 1980, premiere of the zany, good-natured and slightly lewd Bosom Buddies, starring newcomers Tom Hanks (who soon reached stardom with the 1984 movie Splash) and Peter Scolari (a three-time Newhart Emmy nominee, above right, with Hanks). They played best friends Kip and Henry, who disguise themselves as gals named Buffy and Hildy to get cheap housing at a women-only hotel.

Nearly every episode of the two-season series airs in this Catchy Comedy marathon

(which skips over Rita Wilson’s guest spot in Season 2’s “All You Need Is Love,” where she met future husband Hanks). In the first season, the leading men, who work as ad agency creatives under a credit-stealing boss (Holland Taylor), somehow successfully hide their guyness—even experiencing sexism in a bar (2/1c). Meanwhile, Kip falls for sweet Sonny (Donna Dixon), the roomie of their colleague Amy (Wendie Jo Sperber), who adores Henry and is the only one who knows their true identities. They’re almost exposed, however, while trying to stop a robbery (4/3c).

“When Tom first came in, and he and Peter put on dresses and started walking very badly in heels for the first time, we all hit the floor,” recalls sitcom stalwart Telma

Hopkins (inset), who played in-your-face hotel resident Isabelle. “Tom was the gangliest, goofiest woman ever.” Plus, she confirms, “He and Peter had so much chemistry from day one.”

Laughter and improv were welcome on the set, and guest actors, including Bob Saget in his first TV role (6:30/5:30c) and Laverne & Shirley’s Penny Marshall (1am/midnight), played along.

The show’s cancellation after a faltering and more conventional second season “wasn’t surprising, but we thought [the show] was great,” says Hopkins (whose upcoming projects include Free-vee comedy Clean Slate with Laverne Cox). “The proof is that people still talk about it today!” —Ileane Rudolph

Elton John and Bernie Taupin: The Library of Congress Gershwin Prize for Popular Song

8/7c, PBS (check local listings at pbs.org)

Saturday night’s alright for fighting, but tonight is for feting the 57-year, hits-laden legacy of pop vocalist Elton John and his song-writing partner, Bernie Taupin (above left, with John). The long-time collaborators are in for some big surprises. The invite-only salute, hosted by Billy Porter, is set to feature Garth Brooks, Brandi Carlile, Annie Lennox, Metallica and others offering their takes on the twosome’s work, including “Your Song” and “Don’t Let the Sun Go Down on Me.” Taupin says working with John never had him singing the blues: “I still get the biggest kick out of writing with him. I have the best job in the world.” —Damian Holbrook

Chucky

10/9c, Syfy and USA

Season 3 of the scariest toy story ever resumes right after last October's bloodbath at the White House Halloween party. "It gets bad for the president," reveals Devon Sawa, whose commander in chief James Collins has no idea that his young son Henry (Callum Vinson) is harboring the killer doll (voiced by Brad Dourif) murdering his staff. "And then it becomes worse and worse." Especially when he realizes he's being haunted by a ghost with close ties to the first family.

Things aren't that great for Chucky either. After a botched exorcism to drive out the spirit of late serial killer Charles Lee Ray, the possessed Good Guy doll is rapidly aging. Oddly, it may be Chucky's teenage survivors—Jake (Zackary Arthur), beau Devon (Björgvin Arnarson) and bes-tie Lexy (Alyvia Alyn Lind)—who come to his aid, since he's their only hope of getting Lexy's brainwashed little sister Caroline away from Chucky's evil ex-girlfriend, Tiffany Valentine (Jennifer Tilly, above). "Their whole drive is to find out where Caroline is," explains showrunner and franchise creator Don Mancini. "So Chucky's imminent demise is not necessarily good news for the kids." —Damian Holbrook

Nature

8/7c, PBS (check local listings at pbs.org)

Those who don't consider birds to be all that intimidating will think again after watching this two-part docuseries on hawks, owls, falcons and other raptors. Get a fascinating look at the wing-flappers' predatory cunning and the environmental threats they face.

Abbott Elementary

Awkward history teacher Jacob (Chris Perfetti) learns that his coworkers haven't been reading his (presumably many) emails. And the digital responses he receives? Not even written by them!

Hot Ones

9/8c, AXS TV

Jennifer Lawrence (above) is the latest A-lister to go head-to-head with the spicy wings of doom in this episode of the talk show. The infamous Da' Bomb hot sauce induces tears and snot galore. Yikes!

First Impressions Are Everything

When a restaurant critic (Havon Baraka) comes to Bar None, anxious barback Doug (Diggy Simmons) asks his buds Andre and Aaron (Marcus Scribner and Trevor Jackson) for help. But will they make the former marketing major look better or worse?

The Masters: First Round

3/2c, ESPN
Golf's first major of 2024, the 88th Masters Tournament, tees off at the hallowed Augusta National Golf Club in Georgia. Last year's champ Jon Rahm (below) faces Scottie Scheffler, Rory McIlroy, Viktor Hovland, Xander Schauffele and more of the world's best as he aims to become the first repeat winner since Tiger Woods in 2001–02. (Woods will likely appear at the event, but having played little competitive golf in the past year, don't expect a miracle charge up the leaderboard.) And despite a love for tradition, the Augusta National course layout has been tweaked to keep pace with today's longer hitters: The par-five second hole ("Pink Dogwood") has been lengthened by 10 yards. —Ryan A. Berenz

Best Bite in Town

SEASON PREMIERE 9/8c, Food Network

Hungry? Road trips with a side of tasty rest stops are on tap for this new competition series from executive producer Guy Fieri. The Diners, Drive-Ins and Dives host called upon his Carnival Eats pal Noah Cappe (below) to assemble his very own Bite Club. A stable of chefs—including Chopped judge Tiffani Faison, Top Chef competitors Shota Nakajima and Joe Sasto, The Next Food Network Star winner Aarti Sequeira and Iron Chef America's impressive Jet Tila—prepare to sample the fare in various cities.

Cappe and a pair of his fellow foodies each hit up two hot spots in town, all handpicked by Fieri, who sends them to wildly diverse cuisine scenes across the U.S., ranging from Tulsa, Oklahoma, to California's wine country. They then present their individual picks for top dish to a panel of judges, who decide if these so-called local legends simply bite or are actually the Best. —Damian Holbrook

Gone With the Wind

The 100th: Billy Joel at Madison Square Garden

9/8c, CBS

He's the entertainer, another serenader—and now folks from all over can forget about life for a while with The 100th: Billy Joel at Madison Square Garden—The Greatest Arena Run of All Time. Joel's (left) first broadcast special, taped during his landmark gig at the iconic New York City venue before he calls it quits on the 10-year residency in July, harkens back to Sunday night TV concerts with the Rat Pack.

So, expect special guests and revered favorites, like "Vienna" and "Scenes From an Italian Restaurant." The Long Islander, who turns 75 in May, and his crew famously never sell the stadium's front-row seats, instead choosing lucky fans from the back to enjoy the best spot in the house. "This [special] is a big version of [that]," says executive producer Steve Cohen, who has worked with the rocker for nearly 50 years. "We're going to give it to the people in the nosebleeds—the middle of the country who can't get on a plane and drop a large dime. It's time to let them in." —Emily Aslanian

Movie Pick

An admirably realized look at the reggae superstar (a captivating Kingsley Ben-Adir, quite different from his Basketball Ken in Barbie). His wish: to unite a politically torn Jamaica through the power of song.

24 in 24: Last Chef Standing SERIES PREMIERE 8/7c, Food Network

The cooking equivalent of a dance-a-thon kicks off with 24 chefs attempting to create 24 dishes in 24 hours, nonstop.

The Sympathizer SERIES PREMIERE 9/8c, HBO

One big thrill of this seven-episode darkly comic espionage drama about a Vietnam War-era spy? Watching new Oscar winner Robert Downey Jr. do iron-man acting duty by playing four different power players—professor, congressman, CIA op and Hollywood director—alongside the Captain (Hoa Xuande), a mole for the Viet Cong.

STICK 'EM UP! Far Haven MOVIE PREMIERE 9/8c, INSP

In this 1887-set Western, a wrongfully convicted father (Longmire's Bailey Chase) returns home after he's released from jail to start over with his family. But when his father-in-law is brutally attacked by raiders, he leads a new war against bandits and local corruption.

Secrets of the Hells Angels SERIES PREMIERE 10/9c, A&E

Guns, drugs, murder—see that dangerous, violent life in this new docuseries, which starts with the infamous story of the undercover agents who infiltrated the biker gang.

Family Guy

SEASON FINALE Wednesday, April 17, 9:30/8:30c, Fox

OH, GOD. THE enfant terrible of animated comedies is delivering unto us a Season 22 finale of biblical proportions. Because after Family Guy's near-quarter of a century on the air, nothing is sacred!

"I never thought I'd hear myself say this as a writer," confesses Richard Appel, a showrunner alongside Alec Sulkin, "but the Standards and Practices department at Fox is easy to work with and pretty good with us." Due in part to the sheer success of the cartoon, as well as its consistent ability to push the envelope without inspiring boycotts (anymore), Guy has gotten away with decades of gags other shows wouldn't dare to attempt—like tonight's trip back to the days of Jesus. A travesty, you say? Even the respected drama The Chosen has a sense of humor—witness its Jesus (Jonathan Roumie) cracking jokes!

The episode kicks off with Brian the dog (voiced by series creator Seth MacFarlane) falling for a devout vet tech (Mae Whitman). When he pretends to be pious himself, things suddenly go from holy-roller rom-com to something far more irreverent. "We call that an Act 1 mislead," reveals Sulkin. "You go a little bit down a road with something that seems like it could be a Family Guy story, and then it turns into something else."

Brian's new girlfriend refuses to engage in premarital hanky-panky for fear of eternal damnation, though, so the incensed horndog has a novel solution. He hops into the time machine that Stewie (also voiced by MacFarlane) built back in Season 1. The lothario's goal: to alter the past so he can score in the present.

Before you can say "Thou shalt not time travel," the pooch has landed in Israel circa A.D. 30 (above), and he's soon joined by Stewie in a misbegotten crusade to stop Jesus (voiced by exec producer Sulkin) from creating Christianity. Lordy. —Damian Holbrook

SEASON FINALE 9/8c, HGTV

Bragging rights and redemption are up for grabs as the design teams race to finish their final spaces and wow judge Jonathan Scott of the Property Brothers. Season 5's HGTV all-stars: Fix My Flip's Page Turner and Mitch Glew, Unsellable Houses' Lyndsay Lamb and Leslie Davis, Battle on the Beach's Sarah and Bryan Baeumler (above, right) and Bargain Block's Evan Thomas and Keith Bynum (above, second and third, next to host Ty Pennington). Since returning to the Block for a second shot, the duos have upped their games to outfit four attached homes on the Florida waterfront. In the end, the real champ is No Kid Hungry, a charity that will score a big donation on behalf of whoever takes the prize. —DH

True Crime Story: It Couldn't Happen Here

SEASON PREMIERE 10/9c, SundanceTV

In Benton, Missouri, everybody knows everybody. So when well-loved teen Mischelle Lawless was found dead in her car in November 1992, it sent shock waves through the small community. Thirty years later, justice seeker and actress Hilarie Burton Morgan (above) visits the scene of the crime to talk to friends and family about the unsolved homicide. With her curiosity and interrogative skills, Morgan digs deep into a mystery that sent a wrongfully accused man to prison for 16 years. "There's a lot of great things about living in a small town," Mischelle's best friend Melissa Gaines tells Morgan in an emotional moment. "What's bad is there are suspects...walking free, and you have to see their face and wonder, 'Did you really do it?'" —Andrea Towers

Secrets of the Octopus

SERIES PREMIERE 8/7c, 9/8c and 10/9c, National Geographic Happy Earth Day! Following Secrets of the Whales and Secrets of the Elephants, James Cameron's latest natural history series uncovers the lives of one of the most alienlike animals on the planet: the octopus. The three-parter, narrated by Paul Rudd, shows how these eight-armed creatures can shape-shift and reveals how intelligent and social they are through incredible footage, some showing behavior never before captured on film.

Dr. Schnell and other experts meet several amazing octopuses in places such as Canada's Vancouver Island and Indonesia's Lembeh Strait. But there's a particularly touching relationship between Schnell and Scarlett—who seems to remember the scientist each time the human dives into her world—that developed rapidly.

"It varies from individual to individual how quickly [octopuses] want to interact with you," Schnell says. "Sometimes they never do." Scarlett got comfortable in just a couple of hours. "We have an animal here that has no way to protect [itself from a human]," Schnell adds in awe, "and yet she wanted to interact with a species 10 times her size." —Jeff Pfeiffer

Honors a Dearly Missed Pet

Our beloved pets are so precious to us, they're remembered long after they are no longer by our side. They really do leave paw prints on our hearts. Now the sweet paw print symbol is featured in a meaningful remembrance honoring a pet who is missed so much. This sculptural garden stone is hand-crafted to capture the look and feel of weathered stone, and it bears hearts, low-relief paw prints, and a comforting message. Plus, FREE personalization of your pet's name makes the remembrance even more significant. The garden stone is UV-treated for use outdoors, and the amber-hued paw prints feature pavé glitter to sparkle in the sun. You can make it yours at $69.99*, payable in two installments of just $34.99, backed by our 365-day money-back guarantee. Strong demand is expected so don't delay. Send no money now. Simply mail the coupon today, and indicate the pet name (up to 18 characters, including spaces) for FREE personalization.

No more loud TV!

Struggling to hear the TV?

Put on your TV•EARS® and hear every word clearly

Doctor recommended TV•Ears has helped millions of people with hearing loss enjoy their favorite television shows, movies and streaming content without disturbing others.

Voice Clarifying Technology® reduces background noise and clarifies hard to hear television dialog making voices and words understandable. 120db of volume makes TV•Ears the most powerful television listening system on the market!

Quiet TV mode lets others mute the television or set the volume to their preferred level while you listen as loud as you want on the headset.

ARIES (March 21–April 19) There are many exciting opportunities heading your way. Don't be fooled, though, if they come dressed up as hard work. They won't come delivered to you on a silver platter.

TAURUS (April 20–May 20) The month holds the potential to catapult you toward new opportunities. As you're not the type to be particularly spontaneous, careful consideration is required. Venus, your patron planet, dips into your most private zone this week. Tap into your intuition.

GEMINI (May 21–June 20) Circling back over issues regarding friends or community groups is possible now. You might need to discuss matters that got tabled, or friends from the past may reconnect with you. The chance to cover old ground may open up new possibilities. Anything is possible!

CANCER (June 21–July 22) You're on the brink of having to make some really big choices. However, the timing right now isn't great. It will be better for you to wait things out a bit and see what happens. This may help you avoid problems. Only fools go where angels fear to tread!

LEO (July 23–Aug. 22) You appear to be overthinking things. On the one hand, a golden path of sorts is opening up for you. On the other, little obstacles are frustrating. Don't let logic prevent you from experiencing what you desire.

VIRGO (Aug. 23–Sept. 22) You've gotten to the point where you realize that the way you're doing things in a relationship isn't sustainable. You are between a rock and a hard place. Look within, rather than without, for answers. Solutions you seek lay where you're least likely to look.

LIBRA (Sept. 23–Oct. 22) Instead of constantly attempting to compromise or make allowances for others, how about you just do you? Think about what you need and want. Consider what your standards and nonnegotiables truly are.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23–Nov. 21) It's natural to hit rocky patches in love. In fact, you have to expect it. To not is to keep yourself in a delusion. If that path you're on has bumps on the road, you're exactly where you need to be. If you want change, change your perspective about happiness.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22–Dec. 21) Love, romance and happiness often arrive when you least expect them. Since domestic matters have been challenging, turn your focus toward joy and a few good times with those you love the most instead. Look for all the silver linings.

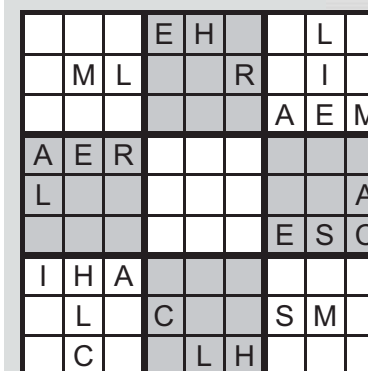

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22–Jan. 19) You're not one to back down from a challenge or opportunity to learn, grow and self-develop. Right now, you're being asked to step up and do exactly that. If you want your home life to change, then do it! If it feels a bit scary, then you need to lean into it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20–Feb. 18) You may need to face some hard realities now. This could be about your finances. It may be about issues of confidence and belief in yourself. In either case, the clarity you get will spur you into action. The change you seek begins with you, so don't make excuses.

PISCES (Feb. 19–March 20) You might have to face a bigger challenge than you've had in a while. A monumental task or a seemingly huge obstacle or issue may lay before you. While this might seem hard at first, you're so much stronger than you realize. You're capable of doing more than you think.

LAST ISSUE'S SOLUTION

Cheers to Top Chef for giving new host Kristen Kish a seat at the table. As Padma Lakshmi's successor, the Season 10 champ has both the chops and chill needed to stand the heat on the Bravo competition.

Cheers to Jeopardy! for celebrating 60 years in unquestionable style. In honor of this year's diamond anniversary, the beloved game show hosted by Ken Jennings (left) is launching a splashy contestant recruitment campaign and a new bar-trivia game, while also hosting live events and activations around the country.

Cheers to CBS for getting us in a lather over soaps again! The network has partnered with the NAACP to produce a new daytime drama called The Gates, about a powerful Black family living in a gated community. It's been generations (if you know, you know) since we've been this excited.

Cheers to 9-1-1's award-worthy in-joke. In ABC's March 14 Season 7 premiere, Angela Bassett's LAFD boss Athena (right) copped to being traumatized by The Poseidon Adventure as a kid, leading to a rant about how the disaster flick's Shelley Winters lost for Best Supporting Actress. We're not over it either, Angie!

Jeers to The Girls on the Bus for being fake news. Not even casting the always-fab Supergirl vet Melissa Benoist (left) and Carla Gugino can help Max's soapy dramedy about female political reporters covering an election campaign ring true, because Girls gets almost everything about journalism wrong.

Jeers to NBC's programming problem. The old home of "Must-See TV" (Frasier, Friends) has two full nights of Chicago and Law & Order series, as well as back-to-back nights of The Voice, but only three comedies on their slate. Are they joking?

Jeers to Palm Royale

for royally wasting talent. More baffling than what genre the show is supposed to be (comedy? Drama? Mystery?) is how Apple TV+'s star-packed tale of country-club elites in 1960s Florida cast the iconic Carol Burnett (right) only to have her comatose character do nothing for the first three episodes. That is not what fits a legend.
